COUNT THREE

Statement of Offence

RAPE: Contrary to section 207(1) and 2(a) of the Crimes Act 2009.

Particulars of Offence

SETAREKI TUISAWA on the 25th day of June 2021 at Navua in the Central Division, penetrated the vagina of NUR with his penis, without her consent.

2. Setareki Tuisawa pleaded not guilty and tried for the aforesaid offences (21 September – 25 October 2023; Closing submission – 15 May 2024), and this is the Court’s judgment.
3. Pursuant to sections 57 and 58 of the Crimes Act 2009 including Woolmington v DPP [1935] AC 462 at 481 (HL), the prosecution bear the burden to prove beyond reasonable doubt all elements of the offence of Rape in Counts 1 – 3 in the indictment.

Physical and fault elements of Rape

4. In this instant, as per the 3 counts in the indictment, Rape is contrary to section 207(1) & (2)(a) of the Crimes Act 2009 which state:

Rape

207.-(1) Any person who rapes another person commits an indictable offence.

(2) A person rapes another person if –

(a) the person has carnal knowledge with or of the other person without the other person's consent; ...

206.- In this Part –

(3) The term “penetrate” does not include penetrate for a medical, hygienic or law enforcement purpose only.

(4) If “carnal knowledge” is used in defining an offence, the offence, so far as regard that element of it, is complete on penetration to any extent.

Consent is defined under section 206(1) - (2) of the Crimes Act 2009 as:

206. In this Part –

(1) The term “consent” means consent freely and voluntarily given by a person with the necessary mental capacity to give the consent, and the submission without physical resistance by a person to an act of another person shall not alone constitute consent.

(2) Without limiting sub-section (1), a person's consent to an act is not freely and voluntarily given if it is obtained –

(a) by force; or

(b) by threat or intimidation; or

(c) by fear of bodily harm; or

(d) by exercise of authority; or

(e) by false and fraudulent representations about the nature or purpose of the act; or

(f) by a mistaken belief induced by the accused person that the accused person was the person's sexual partner.

5. The physical and fault elements for the offence of Rape in this instant are:

i) A person i.e. the accused

ii) Penetrated the complainant's vagina with his penis

iii) Without the complainant's consent [ See ss. 206(1) - (2) ]

iv) Intentionally and / or recklessly [ i.e. mens rea – see Crimes Act 2009, s.23(1) - (2); For reckless refer to Tukainiu v State [2017] FJCA 118; AAU0086.2013 (14 September 2017) at paragraphs 31 - 34 per Prematilaka, JA. ]

6. In Tukainiu v State (supra), at paragraphs 31 – 34, Prematilaka, JA held:

[31] Therefore, since section 207(2)(a) (i.e. the law creating the offence of rape) does not specify a fault element for the physical element i.e. the act of penetration without the victim's consent (amounting to a circumstance), section 23(2) would become applicable and recklessness becomes the fault element for the physical element of rape. This is the same with section 207(2)(b) and 207(2)(c) as well, though not applicable in this case.

[32] Section 14 states inter alia that in order for a person to be found guilty of committing an offence the existence of the physical element and the require fault element in respect of that physical element must be proved (by the prosecution). Fault elements of an offence could be intention, knowledge, recklessness or negligence but the law creating the offence may specify any other fault element as well [vide section 18(1) and (2)]. Therefore, I conclude that the prosecution in a case of rape has to establish (a) carnal knowledge (i.e. penetration to any extent); (b) lack of consent on the part of the victim; and (c) recklessness on the part of the accused as defined in section 21(1).

[33] Section 21(1) states, 'A person is reckless with respect to a circumstance of – (a) he or she is aware of a substantial risk that the circumstance exists or will exist; and (b) having regard to the circumstances known to him or her, it is unjustifiable to take the risk.'

[34] If recklessness is a fault element for a physical element of an offence, proof of intention, knowledge or recklessness will satisfy that fault element [vide section 21(4)]. Therefore, in a case of rape the fault element would be established if the prosecution proves intention, knowledge or recklessness as defined in sections 19, 20 or 21 respectively. The presence of any one of the three fault elements would be sufficient to prove the fault element of the offence of rape.

PW1 said that it is not correct that on an occasion she had consensual sexual intercourse with Setareki inside the bathroom, and the farm in Navua. 21. Defence counsel did not re-examine DW1 and then rested its case.
22. Upon the defence closing its case, both counsels then made closing submissions, and this is the Courts judgments on the three allegations of Rape as per the indictment.

Analysis of the entire evidence

23. The physical and fault elements for the offence of Rape in Counts 1 – 3 of the indictment are:

- i) A person i.e. the accused;
- ii) Penetrated the complainant's vagina with his penis;
- iii) Without the complainant's consent; and
- iv) And did so intentionally and / or recklessly.

24. Based on the Amended Admitted facts noted in paragraph 7 herein, the following facts are not in dispute:

- a) The identity of the accused Setareki Tuisawa, further substantiated by positive Dock ID engaged by PW1 and PW2; and

- b) Setareki Tuisawa penetrating NUR's (complainant) vagina with his penis (i) between 1 April 2020 and 31 December 2020 as per Count 1; (ii) on 4 January 2021 as per Count 2; and (iii) on 25 June 2021 as per Count 3, to the effect that the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt the physical elements of Rape pertaining to i) a person i.e. the accused; and ii) penetrated the complainant's vagina with his penis, outlined in paragraphs 5 and 23 herein.

25. Given the admitted facts, the contentious issues in this trial are whether:

- i) The complainant NUR consented or otherwise to the penile penetration of her vagina by Setareki Tuisawa; and
- ii) Setareki Tuisawa intended to rape NUR the complainant or was he reckless as to the rape.

25. On that note, I now turn to carefully consider the entire evidence adduced at trial by both the prosecution and defence mainly through the testimonies of PW1 – NUR the complainant including PE1 – Certified copy of PW1's birth certificate; PW2 – Josivini Maria; and DW1 – Setareki Tuisawa.

26. Having carefully considered the entire evidence, I find as follows:

- a) PW1's Nur (complainant) demeanour in the course of her testifying during trial is conducive and consistent with the finding that she is a credible, reliable and truthful witness, and I attribute immense weight to her account proving beyond reasonable doubt that Setareki Tuisawa, her half-brother, between 1 April 2020 and 31 December 2020 (Count 1), on 4 January 2021 (Count 2), and on 25 June 2021 (Count 3), penetrated her vagina with his penis, without her consent, and Setareki intended to rape her.

- b) PW2 Josivina Maria is also a credible, reliable and truthful witness whose account does not in any manner or form contradict that of PW1, and I therefore also attach considerable weight to her evidence, also having observed her demeanour at trial to be conducive and consistent to the finding of being a credible and reliable witness.
- c) I reject the account given by DW1 Setareki Tuisawa and hold that he is not a credible and reliable witness, and the probative value or weight duly attached to his testimony is heavily outweighed by the testimonies of PW1 Nur (complainant) and PW2 Josivini Maria.
- d) Given a) – c) above, I accept the testimonies of PW1 & PW2 as being credible, reliable and truthful, and concurrently reject that of DW1.

26. For the reasons stated above, I therefore find that the prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt that Setareki Tuisawa is indeed guilty of the charges of Count 1: Rape; Count 2: Rape; and Count 3: Rape, in the Amended Information by the Director of Public Prosecutions, and I convict him accordingly of the aforesaid charges.

27. Thirty (30) days to appeal to the Fiji Court of Appeal.
