Tort Law in Mauritius

Goran Georgijevic and Jonas Knetsch (Wolters Kluwer, 2024) pp 1-137

This monograph provides a comprehensive overview of the law of delict in Mauritius. The work reflects the strong influence of the Civil Code of Mauritius, a successor to the Code Napoleon, and provides a good picture of the unique position of Mauritius and its mixed legal heritage.

The 2010 Constitutional Reform in Tonga

Mele Tupou Vaitohi (CLJP, Wellington, 2025) pp i-viii, 1-238 (incl appendices 203-234)

This work provides a study of the devolution of executive authority from monarchy to representative government in a Polynesian society. The focus is on the 2010 Constitutional Law Reforms in Tonga and on the background to them and the political activities involved in managing the changes.

Climate Crisis and Cultural Loss

Nabil Ahmad, Ute Meta Bauer and Hervé Raimana Lallemand-Moe (eds) (CLJP/JDCP Special Issue, Vol XXVII, Singapore 2024) pp 1-162

The papers in this volume are part of the 3-year research project “Climate Crisis and Cultural Loss”, supported by the Ministry of Education, Singapore, and an Academic Research Fund Tier 2 grant.

Nine authors participated in the presentation of this volume. The result is six articles and six different perspectives on climate change and cultural loss.

Niue Law Reports V

Tony Angelo (ed, Wellington, 2025) pp i-vi, 1-54

This collection includes judgments of the Niue Senior Courts delivered since the judgments recorded in volume IV plus one judgment of an earlier period which had not previously been published.
