The District Courts Ordinance

WOO CHIN FOOK

against

M. J. RICHARDSON
Respondent

J U D G M E N T

In this case I have carefully examined the evidence and further evidence and in my view there is ample to support the Learned Magistrate's judgment, with which I agree.

I can see no sufficient reason to deprive the Plaintiff of her costs.

I therefore dismiss the appeal with costs to be taxed or agreed upon by the parties to the appeal or should the parties disagree it the Appeal Court will fix the costs of and incidental to the unsuccessful appeal.
