All net proceeds from the sale of any vested asset after meeting the costs of that sale are to be remitted to the State.

IPBC shall grant put, for no consideration, the right to acquire up to 10% of the equity in any major asset/business held 100% by IPBC (and in which PUT does not have an entitlement to acquire an equity interest at the time of vesting by agreement or by the other conditions attaching on vesting of that asset/business)(including, without limitation, PNG Telikom Ltd) on the subsequent sale or disposal by IPBC of all, or of at least 50%, of that asset/business, on terms substantially similar to the terms approved by National Executive Council in relation to other assets in this Vesting Notice, at a price equivalent to the value of the consideration receivable by IPBC on that sale or disposal less 15% to reflect the difference in value between a majority and minority interest.

Subject to the Act and any obligations IPBC may have in its capacity as a trustee, IPBC shall exercise all of its rights in relation to shares held in a company listed in Schedule 1 as a shareholder and shall refrain from participating in the direct management of the business and affairs of such companies. Nothing in this condition shall limit the rights of IPBC to take action, in its capacity as a shareholder, under the Companies Act 1997, any constituent documents of the companies or contracts entered into by the shareholders of such companies or under law or in equity.

THE BANK OF PAPUA NEW GUINEA, acting under Section 10 of the Superannuation (General Provisions) Act 2000 (the "Act") and all other powers enabling it, grants an exemption to the funds specified in Schedule 1 from the provisions of the Act specified in Schedule 2 on the conditions specified in Schedule 3 for the period specified in Schedule 4.

SCHEDULE 1

1. The NPF (the National Provident Fund established under National Provident Fund Act (Chapter 377), whatever the name of the Fund for the time being);
2. The POSF (the Public Officers Superannuation Fund established under the Public Officers Superannuation Fund Act (Chapter 1990));
3. The DFRBF (the Defence Forces Retirement Benefits Fund established under the Defence Forces Retirement Benefits Act (Chapter 76)); and

4. Any other superannuation fund in existence at the coming into operation of the Act other than an Existing Small Superannuation Fund as defined in Section 118 of the Act, other than a fund which has given to the Bank of Papua New Guinea an irrevocable notice in writing to the effect that this exemption is to cease to apply to it (a "Cessation Notice").

SCHEDULE 2

All the provisions of the Act, so far as they would:

1. prevent the trustee or board of the fund concerned from paying superannuation benefits to or in respect of a member of the fund as required or permitted by such of the governing rules of the superannuation fund as were in force immediately before the commencement of the Act; or
2. require the trustee or board of the fund concerned to pay superannuation benefits to or in respect of a member of the fund otherwise than as required or permitted by such of the governing rules of the superannuation fund as were in force immediately before the commencement of the Act;

but this Schedule does not have effect to entitle a member of the POSF to the employer benefit component of superannuation benefits calculated as provided in Schedule 38 of the Public Officers Superannuation Fund Act 1990 as in force immediately before the commencement of the Act; such a member's entitlement to the employer benefit component of superannuation benefits is to be calculated as provided in Section 38 of the Public Officers Superannuation Fund Act 1990 as in force for the time being.

SCHEDULE 3

The conditions are that, up to the date on which a fund gives a Cessation Notice, the trustee or board of the fund concerned:

1. must administer the fund, so far as the payment of superannuation benefits is concerned, as if the governing rules of the fund as in force immediately before the commencement of the Act had remained in force for so long as this exemption applies to the fund (as amended by the trustee of the fund after that date); and
2. must not administer the fund, so far as the payment of superannuation benefits is concerned, in accordance with the Act so far as that is inconsistent with the other provisions of this exemption;

and, for the purposes of these conditions, superannuation benefits which have vested before the giving of the Cessation Notice remain payable in accordance with the governing rules of the fund in force immediately before the commencement of the Act even though payment of those benefits is made after the date on which Cessation Notice is given.

SCHEDULE 4

Until 31st December, 2002 or, in the case of a fund that gives a Cessation Notice, until the date on which the Cessation Notice is given to the Bank of Papua New Guinea.

INTERPRETATION

In this exemption:

"superannuation benefits" means amounts payable out of a superannuation fund, by way of benefit, to or in respect of a member of the fund and, to avoid doubt, includes amounts so payable for use in a housing scheme or for insurance premiums.

Dated this 10th day of July, 2002.

Governor, Bank of Papua New Guinea.
